

TransAmerica, Section 5 (2018 BC-1522) - Map Updates and Corrections (Addenda)

The BC number and year on your map's cover should match the BC number and year listed here.

Section Information (Sep 2023) On the Teton Valley Alternate, in Victor, Cyclists Only Camping is available at Thaidaho Victor, located off route 0.1 mi. S. on Main St./SR 33, then 0.2 mi. S. on S 500 W, then 0.1 mi. W. on Trail Rd., then 0.2 mi. N. at 8730 Trail Creek Dr., 208-399-1601.

(Sep 2023) On the Teton Valley Alternate, in Victor, the Trails End Motel is closed.

(Sep 2019) RIDING CONDITIONS: The highway shoulder between Muddy Gap and Rawlins has been repaved and is no longer a dangerous stretch.

(Jun 2021) Effective April 23, 2021, the South Entrance Road, beginning at the South Entrance Station to the West Thumb Junction, will be closed to spring bicycling permanently. Yellowstone National Park has identified that spring bicycling on the South Entrance Road poses a significant risk to bicyclists due to the narrow roadway and lack of road shoulders. In addition, and most importantly, high snow banks, often on both sides of the road, make the road even more narrow, limits site distances and drivers' ability to see bicyclists, and leaves no escape route for bicyclists in case of the need to leave the roadway. The reopening of the road to bicycling in the summertime is dependent on how quickly the snow banks melt. For more info, see www.nps.gov/yell/planyourvisit/spring-fall-bicycling.htm.

(Apr 2021) NEW TETON VALLEY ALTERNATE: Due to safety concerns, some cyclists are choosing to visit Yellowstone National Park by renting a vehicle and driving through the Park to see the sights. The Park has heavy traffic with lots of RVs during the summer, and many of the roads are narrow 2-lanes with minimal to no shoulders. This 139.3 mile alternate to avoid the Park begins in West Yellowstone, MT, and heads west, south and east through Idaho into Wyoming. Here is the link: ridewithgps.com/routes/35560313. You'll ride 36 miles on US 20 through Montana and Idaho. The highway has variable shoulder widths, and continuous rumble strips in Idaho. It also has fast moving traffic. In both Idaho and Wyoming there will still be traffic, but we have routed onto several separate bike paths where possible. The Idaho state highways are mostly narrow, and have minimal to no shoulders. The alternate ends in Jackson, Wyoming, where you will connect to the Teton Spur on TA_Sec05. The 33.5 mile Spur joins the main route at the intersection of Teton Park Rd. and US 89/191/287. The alternate, including the Teton Spur, is 80.3 miles longer than the main route through Yellowstone. Here is a pdf that lists services on the alternate.

(Jan 2020) In West Yellowstone, Yellowstone Bicycles is closed.

(Jun 2021) With the exception of Fishing Bridge RV Park and Slough Creek Campground, all of the campgrounds in Yellowstone National Park (even the ones off route) have a limited amount of hiker/biker sites. They are first come, first served. Reservations at any campgrounds at regular sites is highly advised.

(Apr 2022) Two major road projects will impact Yellowstone National Park. (1)A major repaving project is scheduled to begin in the Spring of 2022 and last through the 2023 season. It is occurring on Grand Loop Rd. between Old Faithful and West Thumb (map 48). Expect delays and overnight closures. In the past, when there is road construction a pilot truck usually takes cyclists thru the construction section. If the construction section is short and the roadbed not seriously affected, they sometimes let you ride through. (2)A second project is the rebuilding of the Lewis River bridge, 11.5 miles south of West Thumb. It's also scheduled to begin in the Spring of 2022 and last through the 2023 season. Expect delays and overnight closures. For more information see <https://www.nps.gov/yell/planyourvisit/road-construction.htm>
