

Emergency & Safety Information

Welcome to Jubilee in the Desert!

We're excited to welcome you to Adventure Cycling's 50th anniversary kickoff event in the Sonoran Desert, a celebration of five decades of adventure cycling, community, and exploration.

While Adventure Cycling staff and volunteers are here to support you, you are responsible for your own health, safety, and decision-making throughout the event.

Your Responsibility & Our Support

- You are responsible for monitoring your physical condition, hydration, nutrition, and equipment.
- Ride and hike within your abilities and adjust plans for weather, terrain, and daylight.
- We are here to assist in emergencies, but this is a self-supported event.

Key Risks to Be Aware Of

- Temperature swings: cold mornings, warmer afternoons.
- Dehydration and electrolyte imbalance.
- Rough desert terrain, sand, and rocky trails.
- Wildlife encounters (snakes, javelina, scorpions).
- Limited services and cell coverage in some areas.

If Something Happens

- In any life-threatening emergency, call 911 immediately.
- If safe to do so, notify event staff as soon as possible.

Helpful Safety Reminders

- Wear a helmet at all times while cycling.
- Carry sufficient water, layers, and navigation tools.
- Check weather conditions daily.
- Let someone know your plans before heading out.
